

Observed Phenomena

People who classify themselves as White are reluctant to disclose whether or not they are White when questioned by a non-white person.

Hypothesis

Racism is White Supremacy and the people who classify themselves as white are aware of its existence.

A white person's reluctance to answer the question speaks to the white person's knowledge of the existence of White Supremacy as a system while their denial and/or dismissal of their ability to function as White People is an expression of Racism in an of itself.

Experiment

Ask people whom you suspect to be "white" the critical question: Are you a White person?

Expected Results

People who you suspect to be White will be hesitant to answer this question particularly when coming from a non-white person.

Example#1

White person: Bush is a total ass! We've got no business in Iraq, we need to get the troops home now and end this stupid war!!!

Non White person: I agree this war should end, the Race War that is.

White person: Race War??? What are you talking about?

Non white Person: The White people who believe in and practice racism/white supremacy are at war with the people they classify as non white.

Non white person: Are you a white person?

White person: What do you mean?

Non white person: I mean are you a white person?

White person: I don't see what that has to do with anything.

Non white person: If we were having a conversation about classic cars and I asked you what kind of car do you have, wouldn't that be appropriate?

Non white person: Hello, are you there?

End

Example #2

Non white person: Are you a white person?

White person: No my skin is not white.

Non white person: I didn't ask you if you had white skin, I asked if you are a white person?

White person: Look, I'm not a Racist ok.

Non-white person: I didn't say you where, I'm just asking if you are a white person?

White person: Ok, I'm Caucasian. Happy now!!

Non-white person: No because "Caucasian" isn't a color and I asked you if you are a white person?

White person: Yes I'm white.

End